

Dear Attorney General:

As a senior advisor in the Denver area, I want to express my concerns about Innovage's conversion to a for-profit organization.

Innovage provides an amazing service to our seniors and its not-for-profit status is a selling point for many families that I have worked with.

My primary concern is that the care and services provided would be diminished with an investment firm overseeing its operation. My secondary concern is regarding the conflicts of interest with the overlap of potential members on the foundation and Innovage boards. I do not know any of the board members personally, so this isn't intended as an accusation of any sort, simply a concern about the protection of rights.

I trust that you will take all of the feedback from all sides and make the best decision for our state's seniors. They deserve it.

These comments are not intended for publication; simply a letter to voice my concerns and caution.

Best regards,

Kelly O'Connor
